

Evade and Eliminate

- Purpose: To knock the other three teams out in separate four-person dodgeball rounds.
- Set-up: Four teams at the four corners of a basketball court with dodgeballs in the middle.
- Play: The four teams will be numbered and line up in a similar fashion at the four corners of a basketball court. When a number is called, that particular player will run to the opposite basketball pole and then to the center of the court. The players will then pick up one ball and proceed to play dodgeball until one person is left. The players may only use one dodgeball at a time, may deflect with a ball in their hands, and may also catch a thrown ball. A caught ball results in the thrower being called out. (A ball must be thrown. It cannot be used simply to tag a person out. Also, players are not allowed to hit above the shoulders with the dodgeball.)
- Variations: Different numbers of dodgeballs
Different placement of dodgeballs
More than one number being called
Stunt being performed before getting a dodgeball (make a lay-up, ball tossed in trash can, frisbee knocking tennis ball off cone, etc.)
